The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, DECEMBER 16TH, 1907.

The letter we have taken the liberty of reproducing from the columns of our Shanghai contemporary came too late after our own comments upon at least one Chinaman's obstructive attitude with regard to foreign railway loans to be ignored. We had to write strongly about SHERA KUNG-PAO and his politics, because always, when one has ascertained the facts, and is reasonably sure of them, odium est oratio, cum rem agas, longinquum loqui—or, as an impudent school-boy very freely translated to a somewhat weak-minded tutor of our acquaintance, "beating about the bush is a beastly bore."

The remarkably mild and temperate argument of our contemporary's correspondent, however, deserves more gentle handling. Indeed, it was extremely foolish not to re-examine our national position, to cross-examine our conscience, on such a friendly hint that our prestige has been lowered, and our commercial hopes imperilled. We certainly shall not take offence at such criticism. The weakest position of all those taken up by this anonymous correspondent is with regard to railways, and perhaps these points were added, on insufficient reflection, to bolster up an argument that opens much more effectively than it concludes. The suggestion that the new line from Shanghai to Chinkiang has cost too much is most unfortunate. It was Chinese opposition, and later Chinese business "smartness," that added largely to the expenditure. The N.-O. Daily News reports that certain Chinese effected a "corner in stone" and caused the Corporation to pay a million dollars more for ballast than they need have done under normal conditions. If British behaviour to China is to be judged solely on its connection with railway enterprises, we can hold up our heads with anybody, and in days to come the Chinese will admit that we gave more than we got. By herself, or with others less disinterested than the British have been, China would have had far less to be thankful for than she has. It is the earlier portions of the indictment that seem harder to answer, and even there, after fair consideration, there need be no hesitation in declaring that the friendly critic's feelings have run away with him. The attitude of the Municipal Council, which we are told the Chinese regard as a British body, may have appeared unnecessarily hostile and anti-Chinese at times. We also have noticed it, but naturally found it easier to understand and make allowance for than this Chinese critic does. It must be remembered that the City Fathers have had to face many "insidious attempts" to undermine their most undoubted rights—rights, which, moreover, they have again and again had the mortification of seeing treated cavalierly by the British Government or its officials from whom they expected support. The Chinese demands have not always been more considerably made than the answers to them, and if this Chinese critic lives in Shanghai, as we assume he does, he must admit that the maintenance of these rights is a matter of moment to far more Chinese than foreigners. There have been times in the history of the Settlement, indeed, when it would have been worse than foolish for the Municipal Council to risk ambiguity for the sake of politeness. An honest cause should not suffer because of plain-spoken champions. The position has been at times not unlike that of the father of a cherished daughter resenting the attentions of a suitor whose intentions were, well, not strictly honourable. The careful parent could not benefit more than did his child, by his watchful care; and it is certain that the foreigners of Shanghai have never gained anything for themselves that was not directly advantageous to the great native population that finds shelter and support, honest administration and personal liberty, between the Yangkingpang and the Point. It appears to be an old grievance that prompts the reference to "the different treatment meted out by the Council to Chinese and foreign residents," probably the exclusion of Chinese from the Public Gardens, about which many unjust things have been said. He might as well have asked that the Shanghai Club be thrown open to the Chinese public. The Gardens would be of no use to either side, were they not so managed; and is not as if no provision had been made for the Chinese residents. However, no amount of argument is likely to overcome a really healthy prejudice; and it is not only in China that the British have had to work for others without expecting gratitude. It is pleasant to think, at least, how they would be missed, and their departure regretted, were they suddenly to leave the Chinese of Shanghai to their own resources. Perhaps the best answer of all is this, that the Chinese quite understand the power of the boycott, that there is no compulsion upon them to throw into the Settlement in increasing numbers, and that that is just what they continue to do—sufficient indication, surely, that the rule of the Shanghai City Fathers is perhaps not so intolerable to the majority as it would appear to be to a few.

Rioting took place at midnight on December 6, in Seoul. A branch police station was destroyed. One Japanese, a man, was killed, and one woman was injured.

A young widow residing at Sheng Fung Lane, West Point, was found dead in her bedroom last week, and the police were summoned. They found that death was due to opium poisoning, and the woman was said to have taken her life because of the death of her husband which occurred some weeks before. She could not live alone, and wished to follow him into the unknown.

A Peking dispatch reports that the Ministry of Foreign Affairs has instructed H. E. Chang Jen-chün, Viceroy of the Jiangnan provinces, to make a full report upon cases of pirates attacking British steamers on the West River and to find out the amount of damage done to the vessels. His Excellency has been further asked to settle the question of policing the River by British gunboats without delay. This was on December 7th.

On Monday, November 26, Meaton Nicolls, an American citizen, was brought before the U. S. Consular Court at Seoul on a charge of homicide, and honourably acquitted. From what we can learn, says the "Korea Daily News," it appears that the verdict was a very proper one. A Korean broke into the premises of the American mine at Tamsol, and the bullet which killed him was fired by young Nicolls under great provocation. The Korean authorities were the prosecutors, but even their evidence was favourable to the prisoner.—"Kobe Herald."

A telegram from Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi province, reports that the city of Chinakuan has been occupied by a large number of insurgents, who are all well armed with rifles supplied by revolutionaries. The soldiers stationed there have been defeated. H.E. Governor Chang Ming-chi has instructed the Provincial Commander-in-Chief, General Ting Hui, to suppress the rebels. His Excellency has been requested by the Peking Government to give protection to the lives and property of all foreign missionaries in that disturbed district.

Mr. Huang, who was banished from Peking some two years ago for his outspoken comments on Peking officials, and has since been at his home at Uianing, has just been arrested, says the "P. & T. Times," together with his family for making speeches and raising $80,000 for the development of railways without any foreign loan. There seems no reason to believe that he was inciting the people to any acts of violence, but merely preaching the doctrine of patriotic independence. It will be remembered that he was one of the two editors who started the patriotic fund, and while the country is hardly ready for the theories he preaches some sympathy is felt for him, as he appears to be an earnest man, very different from the ordinary type of agitator.

AUCTION OF DAMASCENE WORK AND EMBROIDERIES.

At the City Hall, to-day, Mr. Lammert commences a three days' auction of Japanese art productions including what the auctioneer has justifiably described as a superb collection of damascene work by the Komai family. To those who know anything of this branch of Japanese art and manufacture, the name of Komai is a guarantee of the best workmanship. The Komai family were the pioneers of damascene work, which was originally employed in decorating swords and caskets, but since 1875 specimens of the work have been turned out for export in the form of plaques, cigarette cases, miniature cabinets, necklaces, bracelets, sleeve-links, belt buckles and in various other forms. The most valuable piece in the collection is a beautiful pagoda, which is described in the catalogue as the largest piece of gold damascene work in Japan. When it was commenced it was intended for the Paris exhibition, but was not completed in time. It took six years to complete. Exhibited at the Tokyo Exhibition this year, it was awarded the gold medal, and since the close of the Exhibition it has been in Mr. Komai's store for sale, priced 7,000 yen. Now it is to be offered to the highest bidder. Mr. Komai, jun, has himself brought the collection to Hongkong. Visitors to the auction room (St. Andrew's Hall) will be interested to note a little steel plate which shows the process of damascene manufacture. First the polished plate is very finely grooved, and the design chiselled out. Into the grooves the fine gold threads are beaten; then it goes to the oven and while in a liquid state the gold is beaten in. Then comes the lacquering and the burnishing resulting in the finished product. It is an industry requiring extraordinary patience and care.

The brocades and embroideries are a very fine display. These come from the old-established and renowned factories of Mr. Saito, of Nishijin, Kyoto, established in 1725. In addition to the damascene work and embroideries, a small quantity of Japanese silverware is included in the auction.

The Registrar of Companies gives notice that at the expiration of three months the Star Fire Insurance Co. Ltd., will, unless cause is shown to the contrary, be struck off the register and the company will be dissolved.

WOODS OF WOOD?

A few days ago we published a telegram from our London correspondent reporting that Lieutenant Woods had been declared inefficient. Two days later we published the following Router's message, headed "The Fifth Lancers,"

The decision of the Army Council finds Major A. V. L. Wood, D.S.O., by 19 to 11 inefficient as a regimental officer, and his retention in the service not in the interests of the Army. The reports of his superior are unbiased though abrupt, and in some instances unnecessarily strongly worded.

Both telegrams evidently referred to the same case, and the latest London papers to hand lead us to the conclusion that Router's message was wrong and our own correct. Lieutenant Woods is the officer of the 2nd Battalion Grenadier Guards, who some months ago was the central figure in an episode reflecting on the conduct of his superior officers. The matter was dealt with in a manner unsatisfactory to the Lieutenant and he appealed to the Army Council for an inquiry which was granted and the Court was to commence its sittings on the 18th ult. The Court was appointed simply to collect evidence and was given no disciplinary power. The case has evidently excited a good deal of interest in military circles at home. The Court was to be composed of Major-General Sir Francis Howard, K.C.B., C.M.G., Major-General W. E. Codrington, C.V.O., C.B., and Major-General W. E. Franklin, C.B., while counsel included Lord Robert Cecil, K.C., Mr. Rufus Isaacs, K.C., and Mr. C. F. Gill, K.C.

Lieutenant Woods is twenty-six years of age, and has had seven years' service. He was gazetted to the 1st Battalion of the Grenadier Guards in 1900. In 1902 he went to the South African war, serving in the 3rd Battalion. Returning after the declaration of peace he received a medal and two clasps.

Lieutenant Woods, who is an F.R.G.S., is the elder son of Lieutenant-Colonel William Woods, who commanded the Hampshire Yeomanry 1895-1902, and is interested in many commercial undertakings.

It is evidently to this case of Lieutenant Woods that both telegrams referred. Major Wood of the Fifth Lancers was one of the officers recently placed on half-pay, but reports in the latest Home papers point to further employment for these officers at an early date.

R. H. K. Y. C.

The postponed third club race was abandoned on the afternoon of the 14th inst., owing to want of wind. "Atlas" made a good show and her sail was setting much better.

On the 15th inst. the 4th club Race was sailed—Course—Beech—1 mile S. W. of Cow-coban—12 miles.

In the championship class "Dione" got the best start but was overhauled by "Vernon"—just before rounding the mark. A close race between the two named, "Dione" gradually overhauling and eventually passing "Vernon."

Off the Kowloon godowns "Dione" was becalmed and anchored for 2 of an hour. A similar fate befell "Vernon." Finally, "Dione" managed to creep in close to the godowns and drifted up to the line where she got a breeze that carried her over.

Times of finishing were:—
Dione ... 3 25 46
Vernon ... 3 47 00
"Alannah" was third, but was not timed. "Atlas" did not finish.

In the one design class, "Colleen" was first, round the Cowan Mark, followed by "Kathleen" and "Bonito," with "Min," sailed by Mr. C. T. Kow (which had started 1/2 an hour late, owing to being becalmed in the man-of-war anchorage), a long way in the rear.

"Kathleen" overhauled "Colleen" but both got becalmed in the harbour. "Min" seeing this, made a detour towards Stonecutters, and overhauled the other off the godown. A most exciting finish was witnessed between the three "Kathleen," sailed by Mr. Fisher, R.E., winning a fine race by 9 seconds from "Min."

Times of finishing were:—
Kathleen ... 3 43 47
Min ... 3 43 52
Colleen ... 3 44 10
"Bonito" was not timed. In the absence of Mr. Pollock, "Colleen" was in the able hands of Captain H. J. Walker, R.E.

LATEST STEAMER MOVEMENTS.

The O.P.B. str. Montclair left Vancouver a.m. on Friday, the 13th inst. for Hongkong via the usual ports of call.

CLAN FIGHT AT HUNGHOM.

A disturbance of a rather serious nature occurred between a number of Hokios and Hakkas at Hunghom on Friday. Trouble between the rivals had been brewing for some time, but the climax was reached when the gangs met, and both being armed with bamboo poles and other weapons, a free fight ensued. After some five minutes the Hakkas lost a retreat, and one of them, as he ran, told a looking that there was a free fight at the docks. When the looking got near the No. 1 Dock he saw a gang of men, one of whom threw a stone at him and knocked him down. He succeeded in restoring his assailant, however, and removed him to the Hunghom Police Station. There he explained affairs to Sergeant Wait who proceeded to the scene of the riot, and had a very exciting experience with two of the rioters. When he attempted to arrest them they attacked him with bamboo poles, and it was only when assistance arrived that he was enabled to secure the law-breakers. Thirteen men were arrested, and they were charged before Mr. F. A. Hazeland at the Police Court on Saturday with disorderly behaviour and fined $10 apiece. The man who assaulted the looking was further sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment and six hours' stocks, and for assaulting another coolie he was ordered to pay an additional fine of $10.

FIFTY LITTLE WHITE AUSTRALIANS.

It may not be generally known that the members of the Pollard Lilliputians are normally kept up to the full half-hundred, and it is also the rule with the management that the girls shall largely outnumber the boys, for the very excellent reason (as a French paper observed when the Lilliputians were in Shanghai) that it is easier to manage six girls than one boy ("c'est qu'il est plus facile conduire six fillettes qu'un garçon"). The troupe has, of course, by process of evolution, undergone material reconstruction during the three years that have transpired since their last visit to Hongkong, but they still remain a "fillette" and a "garçon" all bred, born, and trained Australian. There are four young branches of the Pollard family, together with Eva and Olive Moore (sisters of the now famous Carrie Moore), Harold Fraser, Teddy and Johnny Heintz, and Teddy McNamara, are still among the principals, who will offer the Hongkong public a taste of their quality at The Theatre Royal next Saturday evening, December 21st, with "The Belle of New York." Seats may be reserved at The Robinson Piano Co.

INTERESTING TO SHIPPERS.

An order made by H.E. the Governor-in-Council of the Straits Settlements, and published in the current Gazette, reads:—

Whereas by Indian Act No. XIII of 1854 intitled "An Act to repeal Act No. VI of 1852 and to make provision for defraying the cost of the Lighthouse on Pedra Branca, and for maintaining the same, and also a Floating Light established in the Straits of Malacca, to the west of Singapore, and for the establishment and maintenance of such further lights in or near to the said Straits as may be deemed expedient," it was among other things enacted that it should be lawful for the Governor-General of India in Council from time to time to reduce the tolls payable under the said Act, in respect of all vessels or of any particular class or classes of vessels passing "The Straits Lights": And whereas by Ordinance No. 11 of 1867 the powers vested by the said act in the Governor-General of India in Council were vested in the Governor in Council of the Straits Settlements: It is hereby ordered by the Governor in Council as follows: On and after the 1st day of January, 1908, to tolls payable under Indian Act No. XIII of 1854 in respect of all vessels other than Straits Traders shall be as follows: If the voyage be one in the ordinary course whereof the vessel would pass all the lights mentioned in the First Schedule hereto, at the rate of twelve and a half cents for every seven tons if paid within the Colony, or at the rate of half an anna for every ton if paid in British India. If the voyage be one in the ordinary course whereof the vessel would pass any one or more of the said Lights, but not all of them, at the rate of six and a quarter cents for every seven tons if paid within the Colony or at the rate of a quarter anna for every ton if paid in British India. Provided always that no vessel shall be obliged to pay in any one month a larger sum by way of tolls than at the rate of thirty-seven and a half cents for every seven tons if paid within the Colony or at the rate of one and a half annas for every ton if paid in British India, and that all vessels described in the Second Schedule shall be exempt altogether from toll. Sailing vessels under 200 tons plying between the ports of the Colony or to or from any port or place in the Colony from or to any port or place on the coast of the Malay Peninsula to the South of the ninth degree of North Latitude or to or from any port or place in the Colony from or to any port or place on the East coast of the island of Sumatra.

THE TRADE OF CHINA.

EXPORT AGENTS FROM ENGLAND WANTED.

Sir Alexander Hodge, in his annual report on the trade of China says that a hand-to-mouth existence is the normal condition of the vast bulk of the population.

Although imports fell off as compared with 1906, heavier stocks remained unsold and undelivered, at the close of the year, which was, generally speaking, a trying and unprofitable one. Several causes contributed to this result, the chief being over importation in anticipation of a demand which was not realised.

At present China is in need of manufacturing plant of all kinds, and she wants to buy. What would facilitate business more than anything else would be for manufacturers in the United Kingdom to combine and send out expert agents prepared to teach what is needed and the price. It is proposed to hold in 1908 an international exhibition in Shanghai, the industrial centre and commercial metropolis of China.

DEPARTURE OF A CRICKETER.

There was a large attendance of members of the Kowloon Cricket Club at the King Edward Hotel last week to bid adieu to Mr. D. J. Mackenzie, who goes home on leave. Mr. R. T. Richardson presided, and after the Royal Toast had been honoured, proposed "Our Man." In doing so he referred to the great amount of work which the guest of the evening had done for the Club, and said he was sure all would wish him a good holiday, and that they would be pleased to welcome him back. He concluded by presenting Mr. Mackenzie with a gold pendant on behalf of the members. The recipient thanked members for their handsome token of regard, and urged on them the necessity of working together for the success of the Club. Other toasts were honoured during the evening which was devoted to song and goodfellowship.

LAWN BOWLS.

A pleasant afternoon was spent at the Kowloon Bowling Club on Saturday when members were "at home" to their friends, and finals were played off in bowling and tennis tournaments which provided some interesting sport. The weather was favourable and there was a large attendance on the greens, where an excellent programme of music was played by Macabado's string band. Light refreshments were provided by Mrs. Ritchie, wife of the President, and other ladies, while the wants of male visitors were attended to by members whose hospitality was unbounded. The tennis singles was the first match played, the finalists being Miss Lily Logan and Miss Annie Rutter. The former scored an easy win, 6-3; 6-0. The bowling matches were likewise quickly ended, the wins in each instance being substantial ones. In the Championship Mr. W. Russell beat Mr. G. R. Edwards by 21 shots to nine, while in the final for the President's prize Mr. T. Petrie fell a victim to Mr. J. Pancheson, the final score standing 21-7. The former player must have been in very bad form considering his play in the match for the Vice-President's prize.

Mr. Ritchie, the president of the Club, then extended a hearty welcome to the visitors and spoke of the great interest and keen friendly rivalry which existed in the different competitions. Then he evoked much applause by the announcement that prizes had been offered by members for a further series of tournaments which included ladies' tennis singles, gentlemen's doubles, and bowling. Mr. Ritchie concluded by asking his wife to present the following prizes:—

Bowls Championship.
Mr. W. Russell, 1st
Mr. G. R. Edwards, 2nd
President's Prize.
Mr. J. Pancheson, 1st
Mr. T. Petrie, 2nd
Vice-President's Prize.
Mr. T. Petrie, 1st
Mr. G. R. Edwards, 2nd
Tennis Ladies' Singles.
Miss L. Logan, 1st
Miss A. Rutter, 2nd
Mixed Doubles.
Mr. J. Henderson, 1st
Mr. R. Lapsley, 2nd
Mr. L. Logan, 2nd
Mr. J. Wilkie, 2nd

OTHER COMPETITIONS.
A number of bowling competitions were played during the afternoon, and the following winners were presented with spoons:—Messrs. T. Robertson, T. Skinner, D. Nielson and R. Baxter.

At the conclusion of the presentation, on the call of the President, cheers were raised to the winners, and to Mr. P. Nye, the hon. secretary, who had laboured so hard during the year in the interests of the Club.

A vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. G. T. Lloyd to Mrs. Ritchie and other ladies whose assistance had made the afternoon such an enjoyable one, was carried by acclamation, and so was Mr. T. Petrie's vote to the President, the Vice-President and the prize donors.

FOOTBALL.

H.K.F.C. v. H.M.S. "MONMOUTH."
These teams met in a Soccer match at Happy Valley on Saturday afternoon, the result being a win for the civilian team by one goal. The players were:—

H.K.F.C.: Hall; Annet and Garrett; Ironside, B. Humphreys and C. Humphreys; Lamberion, Eager, Morley and C. Humphreys; R.M.S. Monmouth:—Pascall; Jervis, Rose; Case, Bingham, Wilson; Haywood, Felsam, Bronghall, Smith and Bradley.
The Club started off with one man short and were immediately forced to defend. Three of the sailors forwards were pressing on their goal, and from appearances it looked as though they would net. But appearances in this instance were deceptive, for their little passing game was broken up by Annet and E. Humphreys who dug themselves into the breach and relieved the pressure. After this a corner conceded to the Monmouth was unproductive, and their outside right missed another good opportunity for a centre. The left of the sailor quintet were playing with splendid combination, but Humphreys and Annet proved sturdy defenders, and kept them at bay until Eager and Morley relieved, the pair making a brilliant dash across the field and Eager finding the net.

Half-time—H.K.F.C. 0, H.M.S. Monmouth 0.
Play was in favour of the sailors in the first stages of the second half, and after a lengthy stoppage the Club's captain Bronghall sent in a splendid shot which baffled Hall and equalised the scores. In the restart the Club forwards showed to advantage, Congreese especially being conspicuous for sterling play. The attack was not of long duration, however, for the boys in blue got away once again and bore steadily down on the Club's net. They failed to get through, and in the final stages the energy of both teams waned considerably. Towards the end of the match the sailors were forced to defend, and Eager succeeded in beating the goal keeper again before the whistle sounded.
Final—H.K.F.C., 2; H.M.S. Monmouth, 1.

H.K.F.C. v. H.M.S. "KING ALFRED."

The following have been chosen to play for the Club versus H.M.S. "King Alfred" at Happy Valley, this afternoon:—F. Kew; Annet, and Garrett, Hall, Wall and Gregory; Turner, Wishart, Eager, Sayer, and Mead. Kick off, 5 p.m.

EVOLUTION OF HONGKONG.

XII.
As the East India Company for long continued to feel a sore over their loss of the profits of the trade, they not unreasonably looked for something to replace it. It was noticed that the tea-plant actually grew wild in the Assam territory, and this led to steps being taken to introduce the manufacture. With this object in view Robert Fortune, a trained botanist was sent to China shortly after the conclusion of the treaty of Nanking, with orders to procure all the information he could about the manipulation of the product and the cultivation of the plant. No better choice could have been made. Fortune made his way into the tea districts at a time when travellers in the interior could claim no protection, and so segregated himself with the people that he became a welcome visitor. He studied on the spot the whole manipulation of the plant, and secured a sufficient number of skilled natives to proceed to India, and there successfully introduced the tea to the plantations. The trial from these small beginnings had enormous results, and led to the headquarters of tea-culture being eventually transported from China to India and Ceylon. Although the British Government has no aid of any sort to the new enterprise, the tea industry has prospered equally with that of China, the Chinese Government by its utter want of any fiscal policy whatever materially contributed to the result, by standing by and permitting every petty official en route to tax the article ad libitum.
To Robert Fortune is also to be attributed the introduction of many beautiful and useful plants into England, and his wanderings in China, no doubt in the regions traversed by him, went far to remove the prejudice against foreigners still at the time supreme throughout China. The science of botany owes to him, in connection with Sir Joseph Hooker in Assam, its first knowledge of the plants of a vast region extending from the Himalayas to the sea coast of China.

Owing partly to the obstructions placed in the way by the native authorities at Foochow, but mainly to the Chinese disinclination to change their methods, it was not till well on in the fifties that the Port of Foochow became of any importance, but about the year 1855 mainly through the exertions of some of the American merchants, the first teas commenced to come to Foochow for shipment; it was not, however, till after the treaty of Tientsin that Foochow rose into first class importance as a tea-shipping port.

From the opening of Shanghai, owing to its proximity to the largest silk producing country in the world, silk had taken its place as one of the staple exports: the most active nation in the market being Italy; itself the largest European producer. The Chinese from the earliest ages of which we have knowledge had encouraged the production, and the rearing of the worm was not thought beneath the dignity of an empress. The worm certainly was indigenous in northern China, and seems in the earliest ages to have lived on the native oak and other trees which were native to these countries. When the less robust bombyx mori, and mulberry cultivation came into use in central China is not recorded, but the earliest silk known in Europe, as far as we can form an opinion from the well known verse of Vergil:—Vellere ut foliis depantat tinea serice—would indicate the northern variety.

The trade would probably without external influence have continued to increase, especially as Shanghai, in contrast with the other ports had been favoured from the first and continuously who to a pleasant presence superadded a quiet intention to see the stipulations of the Treaty observed, and who thus gained the confidence of both sides; but the great development of the trade was due to natural causes. Towards the close of the fifties a strange disease broke out amongst the silk worms of Europe, which rapidly became epidemic and at one period threatened to destroy the whole of the production, and the silkworms of Europe must have remained idle had it not been that China came to the rescue. The export of silk at once assumed enormous importance, and it was characteristic of the great production of China in ordinary circumstances that the demand was at once met with very slight disturbance of the market. Not only was the demand for silk enormously increased, but entirely new trade, that in silk-worms, adds to supply the ravages of the diseases sprung up and for many years assumed considerable importance. In the year 1856, Michie estimated that the value of silk thus exported amounted in value to no less than ten millions sterling. This enormous export lasted with few interruptions till the close of the seventies, when owing to increased exports from Japan, and the discovery by Pasteur of an effective remedy for the disease, the trade for a period slackened. The spur given to the trade was, however, permanent, and we find at the present the value of silk commodities exported annually not far short of twelve millions sterling.

The consequences of this demand for Chinese silk were not confined to China but were world-wide in a degree and manner never foreseen by the actors who took part in it; it, in fact, the completely revolutionised the currency of the world. There had been a general tendency, headed by England, to simplify the monetary currency of the world, and there had in consequence a disposition to reduce all to the one standard of gold. When Napoleon III became Emperor of the French the currency of France, nominally bimetallic, was really based on the silver five franc piece, enormous quantities of which were in circulation or looked up in the treasury. Napoleon introduced the gold coin bearing his name of the value at the time of four of these silver five franc pieces, which from their good coinage and their handiness became popular; this occurring contemporaneously with the demand for China silk, enormous quantities of these coins were melted up and sent to China, where silver demanded a fancy price, rising to a premium of as much as thirty per cent. With the recovery from disease of the European silkworm, the French five franc silver piece had practically departed from its leading place in the European currency, which became formally established on the gold basis. After the Franco-German war the indemnity was paid in gold; and Germany took the opportunity to change her standard likewise to gold; and this let loose an enormous amount of silver on an already fully stocked market, with the result of a continuous drop in price, which by 1903 had fallen to considerably less than half its supposed standard value. This complete revolution in the currencies of the world where China remains now as the only silver-using country of importance in mercantile affairs, has had profound effects on the course of trade, especially in the East.

Another circumstance, also to a large extent accidental, which occurred about this period had a most important effect in altering the course of trade; this was the establishment of the Foreign Maritime Customs. While as a nation so people on the face of the earth are more capable accountants than the Chinese in their individual character as merchants or bankers, the very opposite rule is found to prevail when we consider the nation in its character as a government. At no period of its history has there been any system of accountancy between the Central Government and its subordinate. This several posts have their well understood assessed value, and the appointee before proceeding to his post has to pay up this assessment in full, together with other undefined, but invariably demanded dues. On the other hand when he yields up his office, he is not called on to render any account of his receipts, but is expected to have not only cleared himself, but to have amassed a sufficient to meet future promotions, in default of which his official career is considered closed.

There was thus in no part of China, before the Treaty of Nanking anything corresponding with a "Tariff," that is to say, there was no regular and invariable levy: the general ideas were defined more or less definitely, but details were left to the discretion of the collector. This was necessary, as like his superior officer, he himself had paid beforehand for his office and was expected to get amuse as he could, without raising trouble, always a sine qua non, out of it. As the collector was generally too wise to risk killing his goose the duty payable became in most cases a matter of private bargaining with the larger merchants, who frequently had the opportunity of selecting routes, and chose the one where facilities were greatest, and least exacting. Such was the ante-treaty system under which the Company had worked: and naturally under the operation of the treaty, to prevent its recurrence became one of the chief duties of the consuls appointed to the various ports.

"SHERLOCK HOLMES"

A large attendance listened to the Bandman Comedy Company's interpretation of Sir A. Conan Doyle's play, "Sherlock Holmes," at the Theatre Royal on Saturday night. This exciting play afforded ample scope for Bandman's talented performers, who played well together, earned much applause throughout, and saw the curtain drop on another success. Mr. Claude King filled the rôle of "Sherlock Holmes," the detective renowned in story, to perfection, while "Professor Moriarty," the arch-criminal who was working against him was capably interpreted by Mr. Sydney T. Pense. Miss Lillian Lloyd as "Alice Faulkner," the girl who was in possession of the valuable documents for which all were searching, carried through her part admirably, while Mr. W. H. Hargreaves as "James Larrabee," Miss Florence Hamer as "Madge Larrabee" and Mr. H. Sinclair Catter as "Sid Prince" gave realistic interpretations of their parts. Altogether the Company, who acted with a perfect combination, were in good form, and greatly pleased these in attendance, as the frequent applause testified. To-night they stage "John Glyde's Honour," and it is anticipated that another success will be added to their long list.

THE POPE FORBIDS A ROYAL WEDDING.

DRAMATIC INTERVENTION.

Rome, November 18.
The Pope has issued an order prohibiting any Roman Catholic priest from celebrating a marriage between Princess Marie Bonaparte and Prince George of Greece or between Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and Count Eusebio. The Pope's prohibition of the marriage of Prince George of Greece and Princess Marie Bonaparte is due to Prince George's refusal of the Pope's unprecedented demand for a formal written contract in which both parties should bind themselves to educate the children of the marriage in the Roman Catholic faith. The wedding, which was to have taken place in Paris, will in all probability be postponed to Athens, during the last week in November, the ceremony being performed by the Greek Patriarch. Prince George is a Greek Catholic, but the bride-to-be has been brought up in the Latin rite.
The Pope's refusal to permit the marriage of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and Count Eusebio, the Hungarian nobleman, is due to the determination of the Vanderbilt family that the Protestant ceremony shall be performed before the Roman Catholic ceremony.

THE CHINESE VIEW.

The following interesting letter has appeared in the North-China Daily News:—

Sir,—As an admirer of England and its people, I feel it my duty to call your attention to three or four events that have happened in the past two years which have greatly lowered British prestige in the eyes of Chinese people. Whatever might have been the shortcomings of the British policy in the Far East, there was more of less vague belief in the minds of the people that it stood for justice and fair dealing, and Britishers enjoyed on the whole a fair name that was denied to other nationalities. Were territorial aggrandizement the object of Great Britain in China, it would of course make little difference whether this fair name be allowed to remain unscathed or not, but since she desires to develop her trade and capture markets for goods, it is vitally important for her sake to put a stop to actions that tend to render her unpopular to the people of China and injure her moral prestige.

First and foremost, the attitude of the Municipal Council, which to the average Chinese is synonymous with British Council, towards the Chinese authorities and the Chinese residents. Anyone that has read the minutes published from week to week in your columns must have been struck with the hostility and fierceness with which the City Fathers reply to every and every communication from the Shanghai Taotai forwarded to them by the Consular Body. It seems that they see in every action of the Taotai an insidious attempt to undermine the most ancient and accepted sacred rights and privileges of the Settlement, handed down from time immemorial, and they feel bound to defend themselves from the dastardly enemy. The avowed object is of course the protection of the Chinese people in the Settlement, which is duly appreciated, but in many instances the action of the Council is too unreasonably even to gain the sympathy of those whom it was meant to benefit. The different treatment noted out by the Council to Chinese and foreign residents in matters both great and small has gradually estranged the former, and one hears of wealthy Chinese merchants starting funds for the purchase of land for a Chinese Recreation Ground, a Chinese Race Club, etc. All these incidents bode ill to the future of this great city and further injure the reputation of foreigners, particularly the Britishers.

The news of the final settlement of the Shanghai Riot Case, which has been translated in nearly all the Chinese papers, has not helped to promote a kindly feeling between the East and the West. I need not discuss the rights and wrongs of the case, but it must be patent to all that if the Chinese Government were really responsible for the Riot, the paltry sum of Tls. 50,000 should not be a sufficient penalty, while if the contrary is true, then nothing should have been demanded at all. As the case now stands, Taotai Yuan is mulct of a sum of money, a few foreigners are, I suppose, benefited thereby, and great harm is done to British prestige.

The agitation against the Shanghai-Nanking Railway next follows to be considered. While nominally the Kiangsu people demanded the cancellation of the Agreement concluded with the British and Chinese Corporation, because it was claimed that the Agreement had lapsed, the real objection was the expenseiveness with which the line was to be constructed. The railway is now completed as far as Chinkiang, and as far as one can see the line of the Kiangsu people were not unjustified, for it is believed that the line is one of the most expensive in the world, and because of its over capitalization, it will never pay more than ten per cent, if even that much. The line may be one of the best in the world, but that is poor consolation to the Chinese people, who have ultimately to redeem it. It is easy to understand why the Corporation should expend such a huge sum on the construction, for according to the Agreement, it is allowed a commission of five per cent on every dollar spent.

The opposition of the Shansi people to the Peking-Hankow Railway has been one of the best in the world, but that is poor consolation to the Chinese people, who have ultimately to redeem it. It is easy to understand why the Corporation should expend such a huge sum on the construction, for according to the Agreement, it is allowed a commission of five per cent on every dollar spent.

And now on top of all comes the opposition against the loan which the British and Chinese Corporation wishes to conclude for the construction of the Soochow-Hangchow-Ningpo Railway. The history of the whole affair is too long to be narrated here, but that the people of the two provinces are thoroughly in earnest against the acceptance of the loan admits of no doubt whatever. Again, the Chinese people claim that the preliminary Agreement signed several years ago, and again the Shanghai-Nanking Railway is pointed out as an instance of the way Chinese money is spent by a foreign syndicate. Such is the intensity of the opposition of Britishers and British justice that when some one suggested that a deputation should proceed to London and fight the matter out in the Courts there or publish the details of the transaction in some big newspaper, the suggestion was thrown out because it was believed that no British court and no British newspaper would take up the case, when the interests of their own people were involved.

Unfortunately, Dr. Morrison is not in Peking at present, and so we have had no authoritative expression of opinion on the merits of the case by a Britisher, but it seems to me the British Minister should be very careful in the part he is taking, for it would be suicidal to British interests, in case he should assume any attitude that is not strictly impartial.
I trust this letter will cause no offence, for no offence is meant, it is dictated solely by the desire to see Great Britain and China draw more closely to each other.

SHARE REPORT.

Messrs. Erich Georg & Co. say in their weekly share report dated 14th December 1907:—
With exception of a comparatively fair business in Hongkong and Shanghai Bank shares, at rapidly advancing rates, business during the week under review has been small, confined to a few stocks and rates do not show any material change. The sterling demand rate of exchange on London closes at 11.1/16, while rates on Shanghai are Tls. 74 for a Bank T/T, and Tls. 73 for a three days' sight Private Bill. Barsilver in London is quoted 25 3/4, and Consols 282 1/16. The London Bank rate of discount remains at 7 per cent, while the market rate of discount has advanced again to 6 per cent.

BANK SHARES.—Hongkong and Shanghai have been done to a fair extent at 700 to 725 for old, and at 680 to 715 for new shares; the market does slightly easier, with probable small sellers of 720 for old and 715 for new shares. The London rates are 23 1/4 and 27 3/4 respectively. Nationals are unchanged.
